

YORK® Residential and Light Commercial Website Migrates to Bosch Home Comfort Group Network

New website marks another milestone in the integration of the residential and light commercial HVAC business acquired from Johnson Controls

August 26, 2026

Dallas, August 26, 2026 – Bosch Home Comfort Group has migrated its YORK® Residential and Light Commercial products in North America website to YORK.Bosch-HCGroup.com. This marks another important milestone in the transition of the acquired business to Bosch Home Comfort Group.

While the web address has changed, the transition is designed to be seamless with little to no disruption to the online experience. The new domain includes the same YORK® Residential and Light Commercial product information, literature, videos and contact resources previously available through YORK.com.

Customers, contractors and partners are encouraged to begin using and bookmarking YORK.Bosch-HCGroup.com and update any saved links, shortcuts and other materials that reference the previous YORK.com pages.

In August 2025, Bosch completed the acquisition of the global residential and light commercial HVAC business of Johnson Controls, which includes the Johnson Controls-Hitachi Air Conditioning joint venture. The largest acquisition in Bosch history, the transaction significantly expanded Bosch Home Comfort Group's presence in the Americas and Asia Pacific. Bosch Home Comfort Group will continue to operate as a house of brands, building on strong global names including Bosch, Hitachi and YORK®, among others.

About Bosch

Having established a presence in North America in 1906, today the Bosch Group employs around 38,000 associates in more than 100 locations in the North American region (as of Dec. 31, 2025). In 2025, Bosch generated consolidated sales of $18.8 billion in the U.S., Mexico and Canada in 2025. For more information visit www.bosch.us, www.bosch.mx and www.bosch.ca.

The Bosch Group is a leading global supplier of technology and services. It employs roughly 413,000 associates worldwide (as of December 31, 2025). The company generated sales of 91 billion euros in 2025. Its operations are divided into four business sectors: Mobility, Industrial Technology, Consumer Goods, and Energy and Building Technology.

With its business activities, the company aims to use technology to help shape universal trends such as automation, digitalization, electrification, and artificial intelligence. In this context, Bosch's broad diversification across regions and industries strengthens its innovativeness and robustness. Bosch uses its proven expertise in hardware, software, and services to offer customers cross-domain solutions from a single source. It also applies its expertise in connectivity and artificial intelligence in order to develop and manufacture intelligent, user-friendly, and sustainable products. With technology that is "Invented for life," Bosch wants to help improve quality of life and conserve natural resources. The Bosch Group comprises Robert Bosch GmbH and its roughly 500 subsidiary and regional companies in over 60 countries. Including sales and service partners, Bosch's global manufacturing, engineering, and sales network covers nearly every country in the world. Bosch's innovative strength is key to the company's further development. Bosch employs some 82,000 associates in research and development.

The company was set up in Stuttgart in 1886 by Robert Bosch (1861-1942) as "Workshop for Precision Mechanics and Electrical Engineering." The special ownership structure of Robert Bosch GmbH guarantees the entrepreneurial freedom of the Bosch Group, making it possible for the company to plan over the long term and to undertake significant upfront investments in the safeguarding of its future. Ninety-four percent of the share capital of Robert Bosch GmbH is held by Robert Bosch Stiftung GmbH, a limited liability company with a charitable purpose. The remaining shares are held by Robert Bosch GmbH and by a company owned by the Bosch family. The majority of voting rights are held by Robert Bosch Industrietreuhand KG.

It is entrusted with the task of safeguarding the company's long-term existence and in particular its financial independence – in line with the mission handed down in the will of the company's founder, Robert Bosch.
